Contacting the Network for Resources & Assistance

MARCH 1

The End Stage Renal Disease Network of Florida (Network 7) is available to provide technical assistance to Florida's renal community.

Call if there is an emergency

If your facility is impacted by a disaster and unable to provide regularly scheduled dialysis treatments, you should contact the Network and report your facility's status. You should also tell the Network your plans to provide treatment at an alternate location and when you expect your facility to reopen. Patients and providers can search for open dialysis facilities at www.dialysisunits.com.

Call if you have a question

The Network is available to help answer your questions about the Conditions for Coverage and disaster preparedness. If you have a question or concern about your disaster preparedness activities, give us a call! We can help you find the resources or information you need to improve your facility's level of disaster readiness.

Network 7: 813-383-1530

Patient Hotline: 800-826-3773

This is the final topic in the All Hazards II series! Please complete the post-quiz in order to receive your certificate. If you did not complete your pre-quiz, you can download it at www.fkdc.org.
